Dear Coop Member:

We are pleased to announce that we have made arrangements with Encyclopaedia Britannica to make the latest Imperial edition of Britannica available to Coop members direct from the publishers at a reduced cost.

This price is substantially lower than is available to any individual, and the offer includes a choice of important additional material and services at no extra cost.

The Group Coop offer is made possible through the success of similar arrangements offered last summer to Coop members in the Boston area only. Their enthusiastic response encouraged us to repeat the offer nationally.

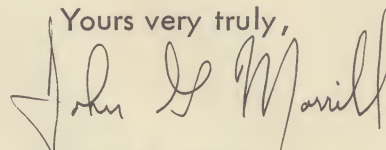

With your purchase of the magnificent Imperial edition of Britannica, copyright 1966, you will also have your choice of these additional materials and services at no extra cost:

1. The 15-volume Britannica Junior for Boys and Girls.
or
2. The Britannica World Language Dictionary, the Britannica Atlas and a custom walnut-veneer bookcase.

In addition, you will receive a selection of Home Study Guides and the valuable Britannica Library Research Service which allows you to receive up to 100 research reports prepared at Britannica's expense. Also, you may use Britannica's Book-a-Month Plan under which you receive all 24 volumes at once, but pay for just one book a month.

If you have ever considered owning the Britannica, I recommend that you examine all the details of the reduced-price Coop plan now. The accompanying postage-paid reply card will bring you all the facts without obligation.

Yours very truly,

John G. Morrill
